

Research stay in Norway

Highly qualified Ph.D. students and younger researchers from some 50 countries may apply for grants for research stays in Norway, through the YGGDRASIL Programme.

The programme accepts grant applications from

Ph.D. students and younger researchers from

- all European countries, including all Council of Europe member states, except for the Nordic countries.
- Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Egypt, India, Israel, Japan, Mexico and South Africa.

Subject fields and thematic priorities

The programme is open to all academic areas of study/research.

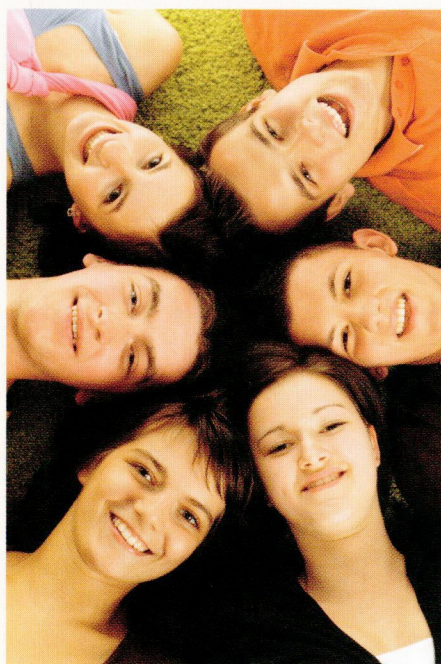

What type of funding can be sought?

Allocations are intended to cover settling-in expenses and other expenses in connection with a research stay from 1–10 months in Norway, based on a fixed rate of NOK 12 500 per month (approximately EUR 1 500 per month).

Application deadline and procedure

The closing date for submission of applications is 16 February 2011 for research stays commencing at the earliest in the autumn of the same year. Applications must be submitted via the «eSøknad» electronic submission service. Please consult the funding section (green tab) on our home page, www.rcn.no/isenglish

Notification of the result will be sent to the applicant in April.

Brazil and Russia

For the 2011 call the budget is increased by about NOK 2 million, specifically to increase the mobility of researchers from Brazil and Russia in the field of mathematics and natural sciences and also engineering.
