MARY HAD A LITTLE LAMB

Mary and her husband Ben lived in a very small village in southern England. Mary had a little white lamb, which was given by her husband. It was her favorite gift. The lamb had white curly fur and a beautiful blue ribbon. Mary looked after the lamb and took special care of its wool.

She kept it tied to a tree in a field during the day and went to get it home every evening. One evening, however, when Mary went to the field, she saw that the lamb was missing. The rope was cut, so it was obvious that the lamb was stolen.

When Ben came in from the fields, his wife told him that the lamb was missing. At the same time he started to look for the thief. He knew that it would not be difficult to prove this in such a small village. After telling several of his friends about the thief and the lamb, Ben found out that his neighbour, Alfred, had suddenly got a new lamb. Ben immediately went to Alfred's house and angrily accused him.

He told him, "I am sure that you have stolen Mary's lamb. Better return it or I will call the police!"

Alfred was confused but answered: "You are wrong!" He let Ben into his back yard to check.

"It is true that I have just bought a lamb", Alfred explained, "but mine is black".

Ben was ashamed of his own behaviour and apologized to Alfred. He accused him wrongly and now he was sorry. While they were talking it started to rain and Ben stayed in Alfred's house until the rain stopped. When he went outside half an hour later, he took a close look at the lamb. What was his surprise when he saw the blue ribbon and found that the little black lamb was now almost white. He recognized it as his own. Its wool was washed clean by the rain from the black dye. Ben immediately called the police and Alfred was arrested.

WHAT ARE THE FACTS?

In September 1991, some German climbers found the body of a man in the melting ice of a glacier on the Austro-Italian border. At first they thought it was a crime happened not long ago. Scientists thought that the man's body must have spent more than five hundred years in the glacier. When they examined the body closely they realised that they were wrong. The man died between 4,600 and 4,800 years ago.

It was a young man in his twenties. When he died he was about 1 metre 52 centimetres tall, and weighed around 55 kilos. The biggest surprise was his clothing. He wore a well-made leather jacket and trousers, leather boots, and a fur hat. The clothes were filled with grass to keep him warm. He carried a bow and arrows, a bronze axe, a bronze knife, and a bag of small stones to light fire.

Nowadays scientists believe that the man died from the extreme cold in the high mountains. Obviously the body fell into the glacier. It took more than 4,000 years to move down the glacier to the place where it was found.
